i held the shell and tried to rid all the aggression,
all the frustration,
all the hurt, sadness and hatred
from whence the bullet came.

But there are some things that one person just can't undo.

So i did my best to give my love to him, to us, to all the people some people don't even try to understand.
to others some of us find hard to comprehend.

But i'm still not sure if it worked because i can see that look in his eyes.

I can see the "just you try to convince me that i am wrong"

and i've tried to,
all the time i attempt to.

But some broken hearts are just so long unglued.

So content to be separated from the rest because that's now all they come to do.

Sometimes it's easy
to float along in the Piscean waters, because reality just keeps getting harder.

and people need to be working harder, and living longer to prove something that we're all just as confused about.
