

CONNECTION

translucent fingertips,
pin-pricks of intensity encircle us.
What did we really crave here
other than another's touch?

Stolen heartbeats and hearts breaking
way too long out of time.

But do we really need an outcome
that will resurrect our truths?

What would be the answer
if the questions are only just breaking through?

You held me with your body.

We were engulfed in each other's minds.

Clarity is no longer necessary tonight.

If we are not at all confused

then we haven't learned anything at all.

We both knew exactly what would happen,
and so it did.

© Leigh-Chantelle zblozbloz